Digital Personal Finance Company Will Leverage Cardtronics for ATM Services at the New SoFi Stadium in Los Angeles

HOUSTON, June 25, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- SoFi, an American fintech leader and personal finance innovator, has joined with Cardtronics to give its members surcharge-free cash access at 55,000 Allpoint ATMs worldwide, including several ATMs at the new SoFi Stadium in Los Angeles.

"People shouldn't have to pay fees to access their own money," said SoFi CEO Anthony Noto. "The Allpoint Network gives our members access to more fee-free ATMs in major metropolitan areas than even the largest bank operators can provide. This scale makes Cardtronics a critical partner in helping us provide members a better alternative to traditional brick and mortar financial institutions."

The Allpoint Network gives fintech and leading innovator firms like SoFi convenient access to the physical infrastructure of secure, reliable ATMs at top retail establishments, including grocery and convenience stores, pharmacies, and big-box stores.

"SoFi's tech-savvy customers expect the highest level of customer service and convenience. We are pleased to contribute to SoFi's growth and success by providing its members access to our global network of conveniently located surcharge-free ATMs," said Carter Hunt, Managing Director of North America for Cardtronics. "We also are extremely honored that SoFi has selected us to be its ATM services provider delivering high-quality, reliable, innovative, and secure ATM solutions at SoFi Stadium."
